Independent Auditor's Report

Board of Trustees and Audit Committee
Park University
Parkville, Missouri

We have audited the accompanying consolidated financial statements of Park University (the University), which comprise the consolidated statements of financial position as of June 30, 2020 and 2019, and the related consolidated statements of activities, functional expenses and cash flows for the years then ended, and the related notes to the consolidated financial statements.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these consolidated financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of consolidated financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these consolidated financial statements based on our audits. We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the consolidated financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the consolidated financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of

Basis of Presentation

The accompanying consolidated financial statements include the account of Park University and its wholly-owned subsidiary Park Ventures, LLC. Park Ventures, LLC was formed in 2016 for the purpose of acquiring a plot of land. The University's consolidated financial statements have been prepared on the accrual basis of accounting.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of consolidated financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the consolidated financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues, expenses, gains, losses and other changes during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

The University considers all liquid investments with original maturities of three months or less (except those held in endowment funds) to be cash equivalents. At June 30, 2020 and 2019, cash equivalents consisted primarily of money market accounts with brokers and certificates of deposit.

At June 30, 2020, the University's bank balances exceeded federally insured limits by approximately $30,971,000. However, management monitors the financial stability of these financial institutions and believes the risk of loss is minimal.

Restricted Cash

Restricted cash and cash equivalents represent proceeds from the issuance of bonds that are on deposit at a third-party financial institution custodian, cash restricted for long-term purposes, and federal student financial aid funds. These amounts are restricted for debt service, sinking fund deposits and student aid and are not available for current operations.

Accounts and Notes Receivable

Park University
Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements
June 30, 2020 and 2019

Notes receivable consisted of amounts due under the Federal Perkins Loan (FPL) and institutional loan programs and were stated at their outstanding principal amount, net of an allowance for doubtful notes. During the year ended June 30, 2020, the University elected to liquidate and close-out the FPL program. Loans were made to students based on demonstrated financial need and satisfaction of federal eligibility requirements for the Federal Perkins Loan Program. Principal and interest payments on loans generally did not commence until after the borrower graduates or otherwise ceases enrollment. The University provided an allowance for doubtful notes which was based upon a review of outstanding loans, historical collection information and other existing conditions. Interest income was recorded as received which was not materially different from the amount that would have been recognized on the accrual basis. Loans that were delinquent continued to accrue interest. Loans that were past due for at least one payment were considered delinquent. Delinquent loans were written off based on individual credit evaluation and specific circumstances of the student.

Contributions

Contributions received, including unconditional promises, are recognized as revenue when the donor's

Funds Held in Trust by Others

Funds held in trust by others are resources not in the University's possession, nor under its control. These funds are held and administered by outside trustees. The University derives income or a residual interest from such funds. Funds held in trust by others are reported at the estimated fair value of the assets or at the present value of the future cash flows when the irrevocable trust is established, or the University is notified of its existence. The funds held in trust generated approximately $586,000 and $650,000 of investment income for the years ended June 30, 2020 and 2019, respectively.

Property, Plant, Equipment and Library Books

Property, plant, equipment and library books are stated at cost, or if donated, at fair value at the date of donation, less accumulated depreciation. Maintenance and repairs are expensed as incurred. The cost and related accumulated depreciation of assets sold or disposed of are removed from the accounts and the resulting gain or loss is included in the consolidated statements of activities. Depreciation is computed on the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the related assets as follows:

Land improvements	10 – 20 years
Buildings and improvements	10 – 50 years
Improvements other than buildings	5 – 20 years
Equipment	3 – 30 years
Library books	15 years

Long-lived Asset Impairment

The University evaluates the recoverability of the carrying value of long-lived assets whenever events or circumstances indicate the carrying amount may not be recoverable. If a long-lived asset is tested for recoverability and the undiscounted estimated future cash flows expected to result from the use and eventual disposition of the asset is less than the carrying amount of the asset, the asset cost is adjusted to fair value and an impairment loss is recognized as the amount by which the carrying amount of a long-lived asset exceeds fair value. No asset impairment was recognized during the years ended June 30, 2020 and 2019.

Deferred Revenues

The University records tuition revenue and related expenses in the period in which the session is substantially completed. Accordingly, certain revenues have been deferred at June 30 and will be recognized as the courses are completed.

Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements
June 30, 2020 and 2019

Net Assets

Net assets, revenues, gains and losses are classified based on the existence or absence of donor-imposed restrictions. Accordingly, net assets and changes therein are classified and reported as follows:

Net Assets Without Donor Restrictions – Net assets available for use in general operations and not subject to donor restrictions. The governing board has designated, from net assets without donor restrictions, net assets for a board-designated endowment which totaled $14,616,156 and $14,928,419 at June 30, 2020 and 2019, respectively.

Net Assets With Donor Restrictions – Net assets with donor restrictions are subject to donor-imposed restrictions. Some donor-imposed restrictions are temporary in nature, such as those that will be met by the passage of time or other events specified by the donor. Other donor-imposed restrictions are perpetual in nature, where the donor stipulates that resources be maintained in perpetuity.

Revenues

Revenues are reported as increases in net assets without donor restrictions unless use of the related assets is limited by donor-imposed restrictions. Gains and losses on investments and other assets or liabilities are reported as increases or decreases in net assets without donor restrictions unless their use is restricted by explicit donor stipulation or by law. Functional Allocation of Expenses

Depreciation expense is allocated based on a building and usage analysis. Interest expense on external debt is allocated to the functional categories, which have benefited from the proceeds of the external debt. Plant operations and maintenance represents space-related costs, which are allocated to the functional categories directly and/or based on the buildil

Note 3: Revenue from Contracts with Students

Student Tuition and Fees Revenue – Net revenue from contracts with students for tuition is reported at the amount that reflects the consideration to which the University expects to be entitled in exchange for providing instruction throughout various locations in the United States of America and online. These amounts are due from students, third-party payers and others and includes variable consideration for scholarships the University has offered to students. For the years ended June 30, 2020 and 2019, the University's revenue was reduced by approximately $7,758,000 and $6,267,000, respectively, as a result of scholarships. Revenue is recognized as performance obligations are satisfied, which is ratably over the academic term. Generally, the University bills students prior to the beginning of the semester, and student accounts receivable are due in full once the semester has begun. Students may be entitled to a refund if they withdrawal in accordance with University policy. The University determines the refund liability at year-end based on actual experience subsequent to year-end. Revenue from fees are recognized at a single point in time and the University does not believe it is required to provide additional goods or services related to the fees.

Auxiliary Enterprises Revenue – Performance obligations are determined based on the nature of the goods or services provided by the University in accordance with the contract. Auxiliary revenues included housing and meal plan revenues that are recognized as performance obligations are satisfied, which is generally over the period the services are provided to students. Housing and meal plan revenues are considered to be separate performance obligations. The University allocates the fees charged to students for housing and meal plans based on standalone charges to students for housing and meal plans. Auxiliary revenue also includes revenues from sales of items such as books, merchandise, vending machines and other, which is recognized when goods are provided to students and customers at a single point in time.

Performance Obligations and Transaction Price Allocated to Remaining Performance Obligations

Because all of its performance obligations relate to contracts with a duration of less than one year, the University has elected to apply the optional exemption provided in FASB ASC 606-10-50-404 TD.000izede

Park University
Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements
June 30, 2020 and 2019

From time to time, the University will receive prepayments of student balances from third-party payers or students resulting in a contract liability. These amounts are excluded from revenues and are recorded as liabilities until the performance obligation is satisfied. As of June 30, 2020 and 2019, the University recorded a liability for student deposits of $521,286 and $361,321, respectively.

The University estimates the transaction price for students based on historical experience and current market conditions. The initial estimate of the transaction price is determined by reducing the standard charge by any contractual adjustments and discounts. Subsequent changes that are determined to be the result of an adverse change in the student's ability to pay are recorded as bad debt expense.

Disaggregation of Revenue

The composition of revenue by graduate category for the years ended June 30, 2020 and 2019, are as follows:

Financing Component

The University has elected the practical expedient allowed under FASB ASC 606-10-32-18 and does not adjust the promised amount of consideration from students and third parties for the effects of a significant financing component due to the University's expectation that the period between the time the service is provided to a customer and the time the customer or a third-party payer pays for that service will be one year or less. However, the University does, in certain instances, enter into payment agreements with students that allow payments in excess of one year. For those cases, the financing component is not deemed to be significant to the contract.

Contract Costs

The University has applied the practical expedient provided by FASB ASC 340-40-25-4 and all incremental student contract acquisition costs are expensed as they are incurred, as the amortization period of the asset that the University otherwise would have recognized is one year or less in duration.

Note 4: Accounts and Notes Receivable

Accounts and notes receivable consisted of the following as of June 30, 2020 and 2019:

	2020	2019

	$ 5,898,831	$ 9,010,192

Note 5: Notes Receivable

The University made uncollateralized loans to students through its participation in the Federal Perkins Loan (FPL) program. The availability of funds under the FPL program was dependent on reimbursement to the loan fund from repayments on outstanding loans. During the year ended June 30, 2020, the University elected to liquidate and close-out the FPL program. Funds advanced by the federal government to fund the FPL program totaled approximately $0 and $2,862,000 as of June 30, 2020 and 2019, respectively. These advances along with allocated cumulative gains/losses are ultimately refundable to the federal government and are classified as liabilities in the consolidated statements of financial position. Outstanding loans canceled under the program result in a reduction of funds available for future loans. These outstanding notes receivable balances represent less than 1 percent of total University assets as of June 30, 2020 and 2019.

Note 7: Fair Value Measurements and Disclosures

Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. Fair value measurements must maximize the use of observable inputs and minimize the use of unobservable inputs. There is a hierarchy of three levels of inputs that may be used to measure fair value:

- Level 1 Quoted prices in active markets for identical assets
- Level 2 Observable inputs other than Level 1 prices, such as quoted prices for similar assets; quoted prices in markets that are not active; or other inputs that are observable or can be corroborated by observable market data for substantially the full term of the assets
- Level 3 Unobservable inputs supported by little or no market activity and are significant to the fair value of the assets or liabilities

Recurring Measurements

The following tables present the fair value measurements of assets and liabilities recognized in the accompanying consolidated statements of financial position measured at fair value on a recurring basis and the level within the fair value hierarchy in which the fair value measurements fall at June 30, 2020 and 2019:

Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements
June 30, 2020 and 2019

Following is a description of the valuation methodologies and inputs used for assets measured at fair value on a recurring basis and recognized in the accompanying consolidated statements of financial position, as well as the general classification of such assets pursuant to the valuation hierarchy. There have been no significant changes in the valuation techniques during the year ended June 30, 2020. For assets classified within Level 3 of the fair value hierarchy, the process used to develop the reported fair value is described below.

Investments

Where quoted market prices are available in an active market, securities are classified within Level 1 of the valuation hierarchy. If quoted market prices are not available, then fair values are estimated by using quoted prices of securities with similar characteristics or independent asset pricing services and pricing models, the inputs of which are market-based or independently sourced market parameters, including, but not limited to, yield curves, interest rates, volatilities, prepayments, defaults, cumulative loss projections and cash flows. Such securities are classified in Level 2 of the valuation hierarchy.

Investment in Real Estate

Fair value is estimated using appraisals performed by independent third parties every three years. Due to the University not actively marketing the real estate, the investment is classified within Level 3 of the valuation hierarchy. See the table below for inputs and valuation techniques used for Level 3 securities.

Funds Held in Trust by Others

Fair value is estimated at the fair value of the trust assets determined using appraisals performed by independent third parties and calculated using the University's pro-rata share of the trust assets. Due to the University's inability to redeem a majority of the trust assets, the interest is classified within Level 3 of the valuation hierarchy. See the table below for inputs and valuation techniques used for Level 3 securities.

Alternative Investments

The fair value of alternative investments has been estimated using the net asset value (NAV) per share as a practical expedient to determine fair value of the investments. Alternative investments held at June 30 consist of the following:

Level 3 Valuation Process

Fair value determinations for Level 3 measurements of securities are the responsibility of the Controller’s office. The Controller’s office has outsourced this to multiple third parties. The Controller’s office challenges the reasonableness of the assumptions used and reviews the methodology to ensure the estimated fair value complies with accounting standards generally accepted in the United States.

Level 3 Investments – Unobservable Inputs

Appraisals are used in the valuation of real estate measured at fair value on a recurring basis and recognized in the accompanying consolidated statements of financial position. These appraisals are performed by a third party.

Unobservable (Level 3) Inputs

The following tables present quantitative information about unobservable inputs used in recurring Level 3 fair value measurements.

At June 30, 2020 and 2019, the University had one line of credit with available borrowings totaling $7,000,000, which expires in September 2020. At June 30, 2020 and 2019, there were no borrowings against this line. The line is collateralized by accounts receivable and board restricted endowments of the University. The interest rate was 3.25 percent on June 30, 2020.

Total interest expense incurred by the University for the years ended June 30, 2020 and 2019 was $899,204 and $870,978, respectively.

Certain borrowing agreements contain restrictive covenants which, among other things, require the University to maintain certain financial covenant ratios. Management believes the University was in compliance with these covenants at June 30, 2020.

The maturities on notes and bonds are as follows:

Note 11: Endowments

The University's endowment consists of approximately 20 individual funds established for a variety of purposes. From time to time, the fair value of assets associated with individual donor-restricted endowment funds may fall below the level the University is required to retain as a fund of perpetual duration pursuant to donor stipulation or SPMIFA. At June 30, 2020 and 2019, the University did not have any deficiencies of this nature. These deficiencies may result in unfavorable market fluctuations that occurred shortly after investment of new restricted contributions and continued appropriation for certain purposes that was deemed prudent by the governing body.

The University board of trustees has adopted investment and spending policies for endowment assets that attempt to provide a predictable stream of funding to programs and other items supported by its endowment while seeking to maintain the purchasing power of the endowment. Endowment assets include the assets of donor-restricted funds that the University must hold in perpetuity or for donor-specified purposes, as well as those of board-designated endowment funds. Under Park University's policies, endowment assets are invested in a manner that is intended to provide a fairly steady level of current return, which will trend in the direction of inflation over five-year periods and to provide returns, over three-year average, which will be at least as great as those from a comparably positioned "unmanaged" fund consisting of 60 percent MSCI ACWI index, 35 percent Barclay's Government/Composite Intermediate Index and 5 percent 90-day Treasury Bills. The University expects its endowment funds to provide an average rate of return of approximately 5.5 percent annually over time. Actual returns in any given year may vary from this amount.

To satisfy its long-term rate of return objectives, the University relies on a total return strategy in which invested returns are achieved through both current yield (invested income such as dividends and interest) and capital appreciation (both realized and unrealized). The University targets a diversified asset allocation that places a greater emphasis on equity-based investments to achieve its long-term return objectives within prudent risk constraints.

The University has a spending policy that allows the appropriations to be up to 5 percent of the 36-month rolling average market value as of the prior fiscal year-end. In establishing this policy, the University considered the long-term expected return on its endowment. Accordingly, over the long term, the University expects the current spending policy to allow its endowment to grow at an average of 0.5 to 1.5 percent annually. This is consistent with the University's objectives to maintain the purchasing power of endowment assets held in perpetuity or for a specified term, as well as to provide additional real growth through new gifts and investment returns.

Note 15: Liquidity and Availability

The University regularly monitors the availability of resources required to meet its operating needs and other contractual commitments, while also striving to maximize the investment of its available funds. The University has various sources of liquidity at its disposal, including cash and cash equivalents, marketable debt and equity securities and a line of credit. See Note 9 for information about the University's line of credit facility.

For purposes of analyzing resources available to meet general expenditures over a 12-month period, the University considers all expenditures related to its ongoing activities of teaching, research and public service as well as the conduct of services undertaken to support those activities to be general expenditures. Notes receivable are not included in the analysis as principal and interest on these loans are used solely to make new loans and are, therefore, not available to meet current operating needs.

As of June 30, 2020 and 2019, the following financial assets could readily be made available within one year of the consolidated statement of financial position date to meet general expenditures:

	2020	2019
Cash and cash equivalents	$ 17,263,856	$ 17,540,851

Accounts Receivable and Pledges Receivable Allowances

Management believes that outstanding accounts receivable and pledges receivable allowances are reasonable as of June 30, 2020. The estimate could change in future periods due to unforeseen events and circumstances. Approximately 16 percent and 15 percent of accounts receivable were from one customer in 2020 and 2019, respectively. Approximately 90 percent of pledges receivable were from two donors in 2020.

Investments, Investment in Real Estate and Funds Held in Trusts by Others

The University invests in various investment securities. Investment securities are exposed to various risks such as interest rate, market and credit risks. Due to the level of risk associated with certain investment securities, it is at least reasonably possible that changes in the values of investment securities will occur in the near term and that such change could materially affect the amounts reported in the accompanying consolidated statements of financial position.

Depreciation

As discussed in Note 1, depreciation is charged to expense using the straight-line method over the estimated useful life of each asset, which ranges from three to fifty years.

Refundable Government Student Loan Program

Allowances for doubtful accounts are established based on current economic factors and specific circumstances of the borrower which, in management's judgment, could influence the ability of the borrower to repay the amounts per the loan terms. For the
